Before you start using heliQRH, please read and accept the below statements:

This software is an aid to helicopter quick procedures, designed to access flight manual procedures and common good practices. The pilot remains responsible for ensuring they have all information necessary for the safe flight conduct of any flight and that they adhere and follow up to date approved aircraft flight manuals.

Our electronic Quick Reference Handbooks are compiled meticulously from data provided by official sources. We supplement this as necessary when official data is not available or difficult accessible.

This application must never be used as primary flight procedures, current AFMs remain the sole approved manuals.
